

My Home Essay

My home is situated on Mahatma Gandhi Road; which lies in the New colony. Formerly, it was a common locality, and now it has completely turned into a high-class location.

We are very delighted with this house. Hence, I can state that happiness relies on the mindset of a household and not on the size of your home or other ownerships that we have. My Home design is a very important and memorable planning of my Grandfather. Therefore its design is very close to my heart.

My house has a courtyard on both right and left side when watched from Verandah. Behind our house, there is another similar house. On both sides likewise, we have houses of next-door neighbors.

Thus, our house opens freely on one side only. On this side, we have a high border wall which keeps us practically shut off from whatever may be occurring in the street exterior.
