Colour Psychology

Choosing the right colour scheme requires an understanding of the effect of colours on human. Colours are known to influence human, set a mood, create an impression and deliver meaning. This section helps you to blend colour schemes that infuse into your personality, make a statement on your walls and create exceptional impressions with Berger Paints.

COLOUR WHEEL

Colour wheel is a schematic representation of how colours relate to each other. It is used by colour professionals to choose the right mix of colours for any project. Colours in the wheel are categorized into:

Primary Colours: These are referred to as basic colours and they are: Red, Blue and Yellow.

Secondary Colours: These are produced by mixing two primary colours together and they are: Green, Orange and Purple.

Tertiary Colours: These are combination of primary and secondary colours and they are: Red-Orange, Yellow-Orange, Yellow-Green, Blue-Green, Blue-Violet and Red-Violet.

These colours are combined to create colour harmonies based on the following schemes:

- Complimentary Colours: They are colours found on the opposite side of the colour wheel. (e.g Orange and Blue)
- Analogous Colours: They are colours next to each other on the colour wheel. (e.g Blue and Green)
- Triadic Colours: They are three colours that are equally spaced forming an equilateral triangle around the colour wheel. This provides a nice contrast and great colour balance. (e.g Yellow, Red & Green)
- Split Complimentary: These are colour schemes created when one colour paired with two colours on either side of the original colour (e.g. Yellow, Red-Violet and Blue-Violet).

Colour Schemes

Triadic Colour Scheme

A triadic colour scheme uses colours that are evenly spaced around the colour wheel.

Complimentary Colour Scheme

Colours that are opposite each other on the colour wheel are considered to be complementary colours.

Rectangle (tetradic) Colour Scheme

The rectangle or tetradic colour scheme uses four colours arranged into two complimentary pairs.

Square Colour Scheme

The square colour scheme is similar to the rectangle, but with four colours spaced evenly around the colour circle.

Analogous Colour Scheme

Analogous colour schemes use colours that are next to each other on the colour wheel.

Split Complimentary Colour Scheme

The split-complementary colours scheme is a variation of the complementary colour scheme. In addition to the base colour, it uses the two colours adjacent to its complement.
