

STREET ART

Since the 1990s street artists have filled Melbourne's laneways with colourful murals, stencils, paste-ups and mixed media. Open to the elements, many of the artworks are temporary so there's always something new to discover.

A great starting point is Duckboard Place 91, where the walls are full of gig posters and majestic murals. This small stretch is also home to world-class dining including Pastuso, Tonka, Garden State Hotel and Lee Ho Fook.

Continue into AC/DC Lane 92, named in tribute to the iconic Australian band. The rock'n'roll spirit is strong here, with tributes to guitarists Malcolm and Angus Young and a concrete figure of AC/DC's original singer, Bon Scott, bursting through the brickwork.

Emerge onto Flinders Lane and head left across Russell Street to find the street art haven Hosier Lane 93. Every inch of this famous laneway is covered with art, and it's likely you'll catch an artist creating a work-in-progress. Grab a seat at MoVida or Tres a Cinco and watch it unfold.

Follow Flinders Lane over Swanston Street to find Adelaide artist Lisa King's giant sleeping female figure commissioned for the outside wall of Brunetti Oro at Flinders Way 94. Equally captivating is the legendary Italian cafe's window display of cakes – pop in for coffee and a slice.

A few steps onwards are some of Melbourne's most recognisable laneways. On the left is Degraves Street, a bustling hub of cafes crammed tightly together. Take a right into Centre Place, another magnet for paste-ups and artworks. Walk through Centreway Arcade to Collins Street, cross at the lights and bear right into the Collins234 building. Straight through the other side to Howey Place.

A few metres in you'll discover the tiny Presgrave Place 95, home to Melbourne's most unique small scale street art, with framed mixed-media works.

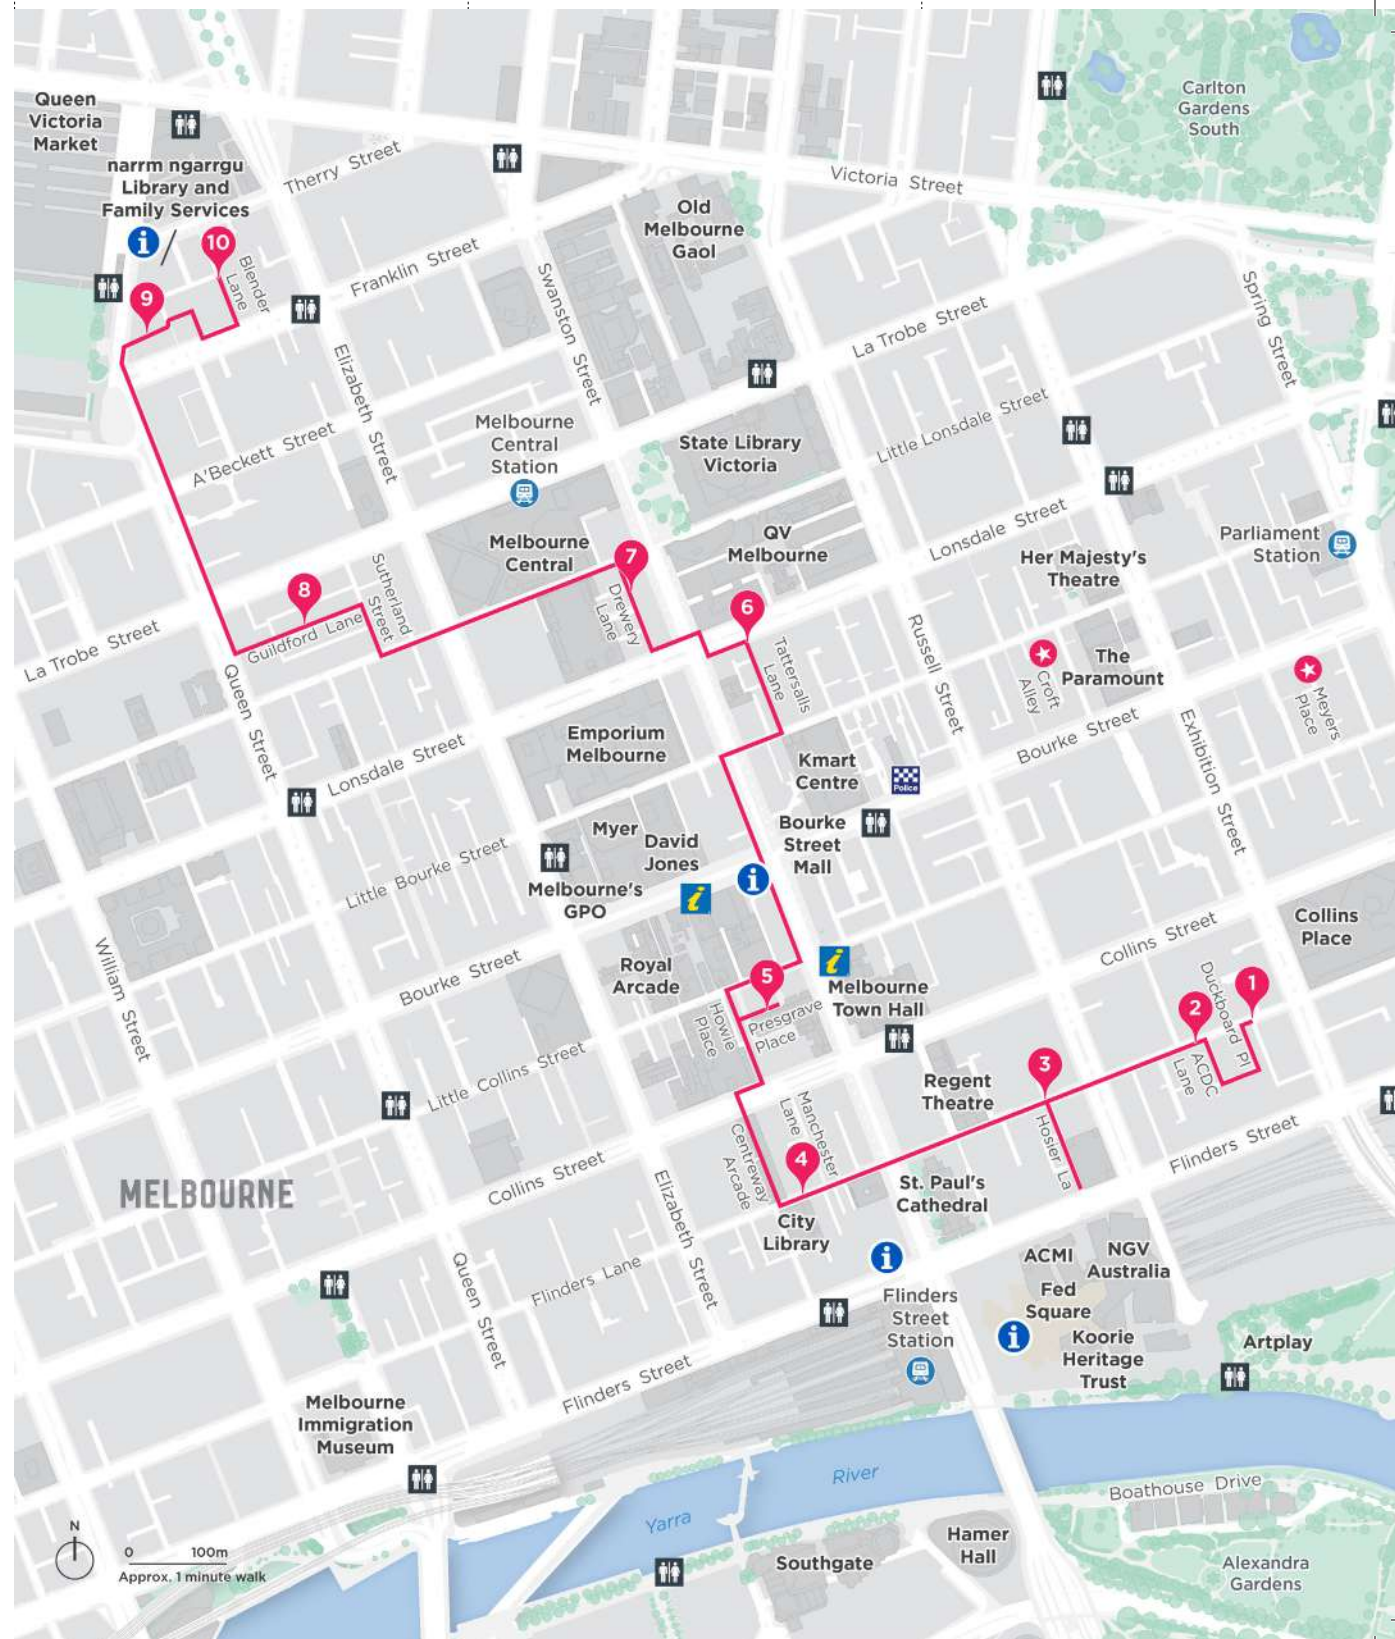

Walk out to Little Collins Street, turn right and take a left at Swanston Street and weave through the crowds towards Chinatown, then right into Little Bourke Street. Not far along is Tattersalls Lane 96, home to Section 8, an abundance of cheap eateries, and street art on the walls of nearby buildings.

At Lonsdale Street, cross north at the lights, and bear left to find Drewery Lane 97, where a mosaic of handmade tiles honours the lane's long-time resident, Legacy House. Created by the families and friends of war veterans, this evolving artwork, known as The Melbourne Legacy Centenary of Anzac Street Art Mural, is guaranteed to pluck at the heartstrings.

Turn left down Little Lonsdale Street, cross Elizabeth Street and turn into Sutherland Street, to find one of the newer street art showcases in the city. Guildford Lane 98, stands out with artist Mike Makatron's 'greening' of an old electrical substation door. It is now a rare example of the city industrial heritage, including remnant vintage signage. Do not miss brunch at Krimper or Brick Lane.

Turn right onto Queen Street towards the Queen Victoria Market and admire the artwork in the laneway just over Franklin Street, at 436 Queen Street 99. Be sure to look up as large-scale murals cover both sides of the laneway.

Walk through the lane and back out to Franklin Street where you'll reach your final destination, Blender Lane 100, filled with bright and provocative artworks.
